UNIVERSITY OF CAPE TOWN

About

A sound understanding of Intellectual Property Law is imperative to succeed in any competitive environment and increasingly relevant to non-legal practitioners. This course will offer a theoretical and practice-driven introduction to the law of patents, trade marks, copyright and designs. It will equip attendees with the skills required to identify, protect and promote the benefits of IP and demystify IP law to legal and non-legal professionals.

Who should attend?

The course is aimed at everyone with an interest in IP regardless of prior knowledge of IP or law. It is particularly relevant to those in business, marketing, advertising, journalism, science, engineering, commerce, arts, IT and paralegal services.

Presenters

Facilitated by Prof Owen Dean, incumbent of the Chair of Intellectual Property at SU, author of the Handbook of South African Copyright Law and consultant to Spoor & Fisher; and Lee-Ann Tong, senior lecturer of Intellectual Property Law at UCT. Presented by a panel of leading academics and specialist IP Law practitioners.
