

FACULTY OF LAW

UNDERGRADUATE OFFERING: SECOND SEMESTER 2021

(PLEASE NOTE THAT MORE DETAILED INFORMATION WILL BE CONTAINED IN MODULE FRAMEWORKS)

Fully online	There are no scheduled F2F interactions with the students. The interactions are facilitated via digital technology by utilising either synchronous (real-time) or asynchronous modalities, e.g. upload of podcasts / lectures. The asynchronous (non-real-time) modality allows for students to engage with learning material at different times and locations.
Fully Face to Face (f2f)	The module is offered in a physical classroom or facility with lecturers/facilitators and students are present in person. Most of the summative assessments happen in brick-and-mortar facilities. F2F learning allows for different teaching and learning methodologies to be used and can contain a blend of traditional classroom methods and online interaction. However, most of the teaching, learning and assessment is still facilitated on campus or in the classroom.
Augmented	Three options for augmented referred to in row 12 below: 1) Synchronous (real-time) streaming and/or recording of F2F learning opportunities with limited number of students in venue. 2) Asynchronous provision of material and F2F learning opportunities (with limited number of students in venue) are used to explain pre-recorded material. 3) Asynchronous provision of material and F2F learning opportunities (with limited number of students in venue) are used for question and answer sessions.

We will be following a differentiated approach under Adjusted Level 3 restriction, in which there will be a mixture of face-to-face tuition, online and hybrid learning components. In all instances where face-to-face teaching activities are scheduled, classes will be divided into smaller groups to not exceed the maximum number of people allowed per indoor venue. Please consult your module framework and SUNLearn for details regarding which group you are allocated to, which scheduled session to attend and then only attend that session. We need your cooperation to make augmented teaching work! Moreover, please note that students are required to complete the Higher Health, Health Check on the app prior to entering buildings and this will be monitored.¹ Please also follow all regulations regarding wearing masks, maintaining social distance and using the sanitizers available in all buildings.

Information about which modules will be presented in which format – whether face-to-face, online or hybrid (a combination of both) - is made available to enable students to make the necessary arrangements. An extensive initiative – the Extended Learning Spaces (ELS) programme – is underway to install technology in venues to make the streaming and recording of lectures possible. This initiative will be rolled out over the next few months to increasingly allow for the recording and streaming of lectures. It is therefore not available in all venues at the start of the semester. However, it is important to note that where necessary, the format of presentation of a module may change having regard to various factors, including the technological capabilities of the scheduled venue, the health of the staff member concerned, the space requirement for proper social distancing, etc. Please see below regarding communication of any changes.

The tables here below indicate the planned teaching and learning approach that will be used for second semester modules (including year modules) in the Faculty of Law. Additional information on the academic programme for the 2nd semester, which may include amendments to this approach, will be shared from time to time and therefore we encourage you to keep an eye on the Faculty's website, your module framework and SUNLearn. Any change will be clearly communicated to registered students in the module.
